LEGERDEMAIN USED BY COURT SAYS MARSHALL

Chief Justice Declares
Right of Referendum on Dunn Act Prevented.

PROMISES REVERSAL
Damage Caused Can Never Be Repaired He Says
In Opinion.

Columbus, Sept. 21.—Declaring that the right of a referendum on the Dunn act, providing for reorganization of state departments, which became effective July 1, last, was prevented "by a combination of legislative, executive and judicial legerdemain," and that "an emergency" has been made to appear where none, in fact, existed, Chief Justice Marshall, of the state supreme court, has issued an opinion dissenting from the majority opinion, written by state supreme judges Hough, Matthias, Jones, and Robinson, which upheld the validity of the Dunn act as an emergency measure.

Predicting that the majority opinion will be reversed, Justice Marshall concurred to a considerable extent in the dissenting opinion written by Supreme Judges Wanamaker and Johnson.

"The real, the substantial damage which consists in the outrage which has been perpetrated upon the people in nullifying the solemn provisions of the constitution by judicial pronouncement, instead of amendment and repeal by the means regularly provided, can never be repaired," declared Chief Justice Marshall.

"That which was created by a large majority of the people in 1912, when every voter had an equal voice, may not be destroyed in 1921 by four members of this court. By this decision, the confidence of the people in representative government has been rudely shaken."

LABOR TO HAVE NO PART IN PLANS FOR LABOR CONFERENCE

No Labor Delegates On Advisory Economic Council,
It Is Said.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Labor will have no part in the preparation of the agenda of the conference on unemployment which will assemble here next Monday.

Secretary Hoover's announcement of the list of delegates and others who are serving in an advisory capacity, disclosed that while there are five organized labor men among the 33 delegates who have accepted invitations, there is no labor representation on the advisory economic council which will shape the course of the conference.

The council is to furnish the keynote for the conference. Its deliberations will be shaped very largely along the lines indicated by the data and charts compiled by this group of experts who are making a study of various fields of industry.

Despite labor's absence from the advisory council, its representation in the general council is strong. Organized labor's five members will be able to exert more potent influence than any other single group.

Secretary Hoover in his discussion of the personnel of the conference said that the delegates had not been chosen because they were of a particular class or group. He said selections were on the basis that the delegates chosen would be "helpful" in reaching a solution of the unemployment problem.

LOWER BANK RATES IS PREDICTION OF ADVISORY COUNCIL

New York and Boston
Banks to Make Re-discount Rate Cuts.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Lower bank rates at an early date were predicted today at the close of the quarterly session of the advisory council of the federal reserve banks of New York and Boston. Federal reserve banks, both of which have a flat re-discount rate of 5 1/2 percent, will be the first to make re-discount rate cuts.

Other banks in the federal reserve system notably Chicago and Cleveland may be quick to follow the lead of Boston and New York. Officials of the federal reserve board refused to divulge details of the discussions of the council, except to say there had been a most extended canvass of the economic situation and that easier money conditions was an outstanding factor.

Drops in reserve bank re-discount rates will exert a healthy influence immediately upon credit. The strength of the federal reserve system and its ability to meet future emergencies, is clearly indicated by the almost unprecedented reserve ratios registered for some of the big districts of the east and middle west.

Government Is Considering Action Against Ku Klux

Attorney General to Confer With Director Burns, of Bureau of Investigation—Federal Action
May Follow.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The department of justice is considering whether federal action shall be taken in connection with the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, says Attorney General Daugherty.

Daugherty said he would confer with Director Burns of the bureau of investigation, who has been instructed to look into the question, and if the facts warranted would seek a grand jury investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in some district and urge indictment against any members where justified.

The attorney general discussed the matter today with District Attorney Hayward of New York and several of the assistant attorneys general, but said that no conclusion had been reached as to whether the federal government should take part in the Ku Klux question.

Any federal action against the klan Daugherty said, could probably be under some statute covering conspiracy, but the legal problem involved, he added was somewhat complex. On its face, he explained, the literature of the Ku Klux Klan was not in violation of the law.

What was to be determined, he explained, was what went on behind the scenes—"the wink and the nod that turns the trick."

The government, Daugherty said, is not to be run or intimidated by any man or organization behind a mask.

The activities of the Ku Klux Klan, he added would be given consideration before the most careful consideration before any federal policy was decided upon.

St. Louis, Sept. 21.—The Ku Klux Klan was denounced as destructive of free government, peace and harmony by William F. Johnson, grand master of the centennial grand lodge of Missouri, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, in an address at the lodge's annual convention which opened here yesterday.

"As the impression seems to prevail in some sections," declared Johnson, "that the Masonic fraternity is directly or indirectly associated with this (Ku Klux Klan) secret organization, it is well that the seal of disapproval be positively placed by this grand lodge upon this secret organization."

"The situation is not as bad now as it was in 1914," he continued. "Since then many women have been called into industrial occupations, and then recently been thrown out of work. In considering the number of unemployed we must remember that not all of them are providing for families. In fact there are few families in the country which have not at least one member at work."

"The situation also would be greatly relieved if the states and cities would begin work at once on the public improvements which have been authorized. The most complete statistics ever gathered will be laid before the employment conference which meets at Washington next week," he said.

"The number of men out of work may be greatly reduced if you consider the estimate that in normal times 1,500,000 to 1,750,000 men are idle through seasonal occupations or for other reasons. Just now thousands more could be employed if they were willing to go outside their own particular trade to get a job."

The sheriff's office and police scold at the idea that Lees intended to commit suicide when he wrote the note. Mrs. Lees brought suit for divorce Tuesday afternoon, alleging cruelty and unfaithfulness on the part of her husband.

The defendant was served with papers in the divorce action at the poolroom of H. Kimbro, East Main Street. Returning down town, he took the money out of the cash register in the restaurant, locked the doors and left, officials say.

Later several persons who had left hand baggage in the restaurant, applied to Sheriff Funderburg in an effort to recover it. Entrance to the place was secured through an open screened window in the rear. Another lock was placed on the front door for use of Mrs. Lees, who reopened the restaurant and continued the business.

CHICAGO CHIEF APPEALS FROM JAIL SENTENCE

Fitzmorris Prepares Vigorous Fight Against Sentence of Court.

FIRES FIRST GUN
Honest Men Convicted
While Criminals Walk
Streets, He Declares

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Chief of Police Fitzmorris is preparing today for a vigorous fight on appeal from the sentence of five days in jail and $100 fine imposed upon him by Judge Joseph David for contempt of court. Judge David found that the chief was in contempt because of statements made regarding the case of Carl Wanderer, twice convicted of murder, while an insanity hearing for Wanderer was being held in Judge David's court.

Judge David granted a stay of commitment of sixty days Chief Fitzmorris fired the first gun in his appeal fight when he issued a defiant statement: "I face a jail sentence for saying that a twice convicted slayer should hang," the chief's statement said. "And criminals convicted and under sentence to the penitentiary for crimes ranging from bank robbery to murder—each with a criminal record—walk the streets and the police department is prevented by orders from the courts from arresting them and sending them to jail."

Chief Fitzmorris included in his statement a long list of offenders who he said had been liberated by court order.

"If Judge David is let alone," the chief continued, "he will have a lot of police in cells if criminals have to be turned out to make room for them. I still think Wanderer should hang and if the court functioned as promptly and as vigorously in every case as Judge David has against me the police officer killed in front of my home would still be alive and with his family and the two crooks that killed him would have been in jail where they belonged instead of being free to prey upon law abiding and law-enforcing citizens."

In passing sentence upon Fitzmorris, Judge David made a lengthy speech in which he said that he expected his action to be criticized and said that "whatever way the court moves it will be charged with acting with malevolence and out of a spirit of revenge."

WILBERFORCE HAS FIFTY SEVENTH ANNUAL OPENING

The fifty-seventh annual session of Wilberforce University opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the Auditorium of Galloway Hall and was attended by twelve hundred students, although the registration of students is still in operation.

President John A. Gregg delivered the main address to the student body and gave them a hearty welcome to the institution which was founded more than half a century ago by Bishop D. A. Payne for the education of the colored youths of the country. In his course of remarks he appealed to the young men and women to strive for a higher education and to take advantage of the courses offered in the industries. He declared that the dark days of oppression backed by the Unions of the country were a thing of the past, that brains and education were recognized by the men who own the factories. He bitterly condemned the Ku Klux Klan and charged the Klans of spreading hatred against the Negro, the Jew and the Catholic Church.

Bishop B. F. Lee, the second president of the institution, Dr. T. H. Jackson, the only surviving member of the first three graduates of the school, Dr. Frank Johnson of Cincinnati, President of the C. N. I. Board, Dean Gilbert H. Jones, of the College Department, Mr. W. M. Berry Superintendent of the C. N. I., Mr. S. J. Richards, Superintendent of Industries, Mr. J. D. M. Russell, Principal of the Academic Department, and Mrs. J. T. Washington, Dean of the Women, delivered short addresses, followed by the introduction of the members of the General Faculty to the student body.

President Gregg says in all probability the enrollment will reach fourteen hundred within the next ten days. The five large dormitories for the boys and girls are about filled, as well as many of the temporary buildings erected last year to meet the crowded conditions, while many of the citizens are taking roomers. Class work started this morning in all departments and the registration will be carried on during the day.

Members of the Rebekah lodge and their families are invited.

THREE SLAIN BY ASSAILANT WHO USES CLUB

Three Members of Family
Found Dead Following
Brutal Attack.

ONE IS SAVED
Assassin Uses Club In Murdering Man, Wife and Daughter.

Dowagiac, Mich., Sept. 21.—A bloodstained club, matted with hair and from which bent nails protruded, and a single bloody finger print constitute the clues upon which authorities are working today in an effort to solve the mysterious murder of William Monroe, 45, his wife, Mary, 42 and their daughter Neva, 17. The bodies of the three were found at their home on the outskirts of the city yesterday.

Little 12 year old Ardith Monroe, also badly beaten about the head and in a partial stupor, was alive when the bodies of the other members of the family were found. Although still in a comatose state early today, it is thought she may recover.

It is believed that the three members of the Monroe family were murdered Saturday night and that the girl, Ardith, lay for two days in the same bed with her sister's body and in the same room with her dead parents.

Ardith's face was crushed by a blow from the slayer's club. The heads of all three victims were beaten almost beyond recognition. There were no signs of a struggle. The slayer presumably gained entrance by stealth and struck down his victims one by one. They apparently were not awakened. There was no indication of robbery.

Standing against a wall where the murderer had placed it when he finished his bloody orgy was the club. A finger print stamped in blood was found on the wall near where the club had been placed.

Early today Dr. George F. Inch, assistant superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Kalamazoo, said that two inmates, Louis Bergman, of Coloma, Mich., and James Morrow, had escaped from the asylum about a week ago. Dr. Inch said, however, that he did not believe either of them would commit murder.

The murder was discovered when Grace McKee, 8 year old playmate of Ardith Monroe, went to the Monroe home to learn why Ardith had not been to see her for several days. Finding the door unlocked she entered and saw Ardith lying on the floor, moaning and calling, "mama, mama." The little girl fled screaming from the house.

Ralph Gillett, who is married to the McKee girl's older sister, came in answer to her scream and summoned the police. The club was a two-by-four about three feet long. The marks of its nails showed on the heads and faces of the victims. Physicians are working today in an effort to save the life of Ardith in the hope that she may be able to tell the story of the crime and give information that will result in the apprehension and punishment of the slayer.

Ardith Monroe regained consciousness this morning but could give no clue as to how the slaying had been accomplished. Police made every possible effort to obtain a statement from her but it was evident that the attack occurred in the dark and the child was struck down before she knew what was occurring. The girl is still in a critical condition.

BRITISH ARE PESSIMISTIC OF CONFERENCE

Officials Declare Agenda
acks Practical Suggestions.

NO DELEGATES YET
Sir Auckland Geddes May
Be Designated as English
Representative.

London, Sept. 21.—British officials had adopted an attitude of the utmost pessimism regarding the success of the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far eastern affairs. This was revealed today in official quarters.

Marquis Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, returned unexpectedly today from his holiday. At the same time the official agenda of the Washington conference was published here.

From a source close to the foreign secretary the International News Service obtained the British official viewpoint, based upon the official program of the conference, and it was a most amazing revelation.

The Washington agenda it was declared lacks practical suggestions. Great Britain had been led to expect that Pacific problems would be discussed first and limitation of armaments second.

The agenda now leads British officials to believe that land disarmament heads the list and the information of the International News Service points out that Britain fears that this will lead to involve detailed discussions between France, Italy and Japan, which would become interminable.

British officials believe that limitation of land armaments cannot be solved without a preliminary conference to arrange a basis. In this connection it was pointed out that France takes the position she will not limit her land armaments unless given the security of a tripartite agreement by which Great Britain and America would come to her aid if attacked.

Formal announcement was made that Great Britain has not yet appointed her delegates. This statement was called forth by a report that Great Britain might select Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to Washington, as her chief representative, assisted only by technical experts. Such action on the part of England would relegate the conference to the importance of the allied council of ambassadors in Paris.

It was admitted that Sir Auckland Geddes will play an important part but at the same time it was intimated that Lord Le of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty, undoubtedly would be a delegate.

DAYTON COLLEGE BEGINS FALL TERM

In addition to two new courses, commerce and finance and education, the university also is offering third and fourth year students civil engineering. This study has been offered first and second year students in the past, but this is the first year it has been offered juniors and seniors.

Another course which will be taught the sophomore class will be advanced army engineering. This class will be under the supervision of three army captains of the engineering corps who will arrive from Columbus some time this week. The course will be compulsory.

REPUBLICAN WINS SENATORIAL RACE

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 21.—Senator H. O. Burrum, Republican, has been elected U. S. senator from New Mexico, over R. H. Hanna, Democrat, according to partial returns today from 15 of the 31 counties in the state. Indications are that Burrum will have a plurality of 7,000. Meager returns show that he has polled a heavy vote in several normally Democratic strong holds.

GOV. MORGAN TO MEET WITH COMMITTEE

Senators Probing Miners'
Trouble to Bring Survey to a Close.

QUESTION OFFICIALS
Mine Operator Says Government is at Feet of Mine Union

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 21.—Gov. E. F. Morgan who has been the object of considerable criticism for the manner in which he handled the labor disturbances in West Virginia coal fields, was to confer with Senators Kenyon and Shortridge when they arrived in this city today after a three day trip by train and automobile through the war zone of Mingo county and Logan county, and Pike county, Kentucky. The committee expects to bring its personal survey of conditions here to a close tonight, leaving immediately thereafter for Washington.

In addition to interviewing the governor, other state officials were interrogated by the senators but their conference with Morgan is expected to be of the greatest importance because of charges made in Logan yesterday by an operator of a large union mine that the state government "lies supinely at the feet of the United Mine Workers." This statement came from Col. Wm. M. Wiley, who is regarded by both sides in the industrial dispute as one of the few men in this region who is as nearly neutral as it is possible for anyone to be in the circumstances.

The investigators were understood to have been impressed by Wiley's testimony and it is considered likely that they will discuss his statements with Gov. Morgan.

Adjutant General Charnock, who is charged with the organization of West Virginia's state police; Col. Jackson Arnold, commandant of the constabulary; Attorney General England; officers of the federal troops and representatives of the coal operators and the united mine workers will probably be examined in the course of hearings during the day.

Although they have undergone the usual hardships of travel through West Virginia mountains, and have flirted with death frequently in motoring over slippery mountain roads to reach out of the way mining settlements, the senators as they neared the end of the present phase of their probe, were well satisfied with the outcome of their trip here. They have declined to discuss the testimony of witnesses or to draw conclusions from the evidence they have gathered, reserving any comment until a full report of the West Virginia situation is prepared for presentation to the senate.

The committee is expected to bring forward a definite solution for the problem now confronting Governor Morgan and other state and county officials, but will not do so until its investigation is finally completed and they believe that all available information has been assembled.

W. S. SCARBOROUGH SAILS FOR HOME

W. S. Scarborough, former president of Wilberforce University who has been in Great Britain and various countries on the continent for several months, expects to sail for home Wednesday on the Adriatic of the White Star Line.

While in Europe, Professor Scarborough visited Waterloo, the scene of Napoleon's last engagement, and climbed the 250 steps to the top of the mound. In traveling from Milan to Geneva he passed through the Simplon tunnel, 12 1/2 miles long, and which requires a half hour to pass through.

He found Geneva as beautiful a city as Edinburgh, Scotland. While in Paris he called on Mrs. Young, wife of Col. Young, U. S. A., formerly of Wilberforce. The Methodist Ecumenical Conference, which Professor Scarborough attended in England, ended September 16. He expects to stop in New York and Washington on returning to this country.

The Democrats named William N. McNair for mayor. In the councilmanic fight the Magee organization won three out of five candidates to be named.

Akron, O., Sept. 21.—Attorneys representing F. A. Seiberling, former president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, this morning are to present to Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver, for his approval, a tender whereby Mr. Seiberling proposes to pay $750,000 for the plant and business of the Portage Tire and Rubber company of Barberton, now in receivership. The application will be made in U. S. District court in Cleveland, where Judge Westenhaver sits, negotiations looking toward the consummation of this deal, while in line with Mr. Seiberling's plan to return to the rubber industries on a large scale, have been in progress with the receiver and various representatives of stockholders and creditors of the Portage company for some weeks. It is understood that the court approval is all that is needed to put the Seiberling interests in possession of the property. All other parties have agreed, it is asserted.

It is announced on behalf of Mr. Seiberling, that he intends immediately to resume production with the Portage plant, in case the receiver is authorized to sell to him. This will mean re-employment for approximately 1,500 men.

Your Heating Engineer— you used to call him Steamfitter

"During the first winter nearly one-half of their number died from exposure."

—ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA

JUST three hundred years ago they landed on Plymouth Rock. They were a courageous company—as sturdy and stout as the best of us.

But nearly half of them died from exposure.

The land to which they came was the same land in which we live; the winter was no more severe than our winters now.

But nearly half of them died from exposure.

Almost no one in America dies from exposure today. And why? Because of the service of a group of quiet, unassuming men. Working without special notice or praise, the men whom you call Steamfitters and Plumbers have made the newest nation the healthiest and best-warmed nation in the world.

They have done a wonderful work for America; and yet their work is hardly more than begun. Statisticians say that 17½ million homes in America still have no heat except the heat of old-fashioned stoves.

ARCOLA— the Heating Engineer's wonderful new gift to the small home

FOR years every Heating Engineer has longed for a hot-water heating outfit that would warm the small home as perfectly as the larger heating plants of the AMERICAN RADIATOR COMPANY warm mansions, cathedrals and even the White House itself.

ARCOLA—a wonderful new invention developed after years of experiment—is the answer to that hope.

ARCOLA is unlike any heating equipment you have ever seen. It is radiator and boiler and hot-water heater combined to burn any kind of fuel. Set in the living-room, dining-room or kitchen, it radiates healthful warmth to every corner. American Radiators, connected with it by small pipes carry its warmth to every room upstairs and down. The kitchen tank, too, can draw on its deep fire-pot, providing an abundance of hot water for washing and bathing.

See ARCOLA today in the store of any Heating Engineer displaying the red and yellow card at the right.

ARCOLA is not only a great invention for the small home; it is a gift to the small home in a very real sense.

For, in the fuel it saves, ARCOLA is guaranteed to pay for itself.

If every man who can install a heating plant should work every day, it would take a generation to give modern healthful heat to those 17½ million homes.

An almost overwhelming task! But think of the overwhelming economy! Every IDEAL TYPE A HEAT MACHINE substituted for a wasteful furnace or boiler means that one family's fuel bill is reduced one-third.

Every ARCOLA, supplanting a furnace or old-fashioned stoves, slashes the fuel bill of another home.

Of all the services rendered to the modern home there is none which pays for itself more quickly or more surely than the service of the Steamfitter and Plumber.

Call your Steamfitter or your Plumber in now and have him go over your house and report; his counsel may save you money. Make it a point to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or your Dentist. And do not be surprised if the old name over his store has been taken down and a new one hangs in its place.

For the men whose science and skill have robbed winter of its terrors and removed the breeding-grounds of disease, have outgrown the names by which you have been accustomed to call them. Their work has become a profession: the Steamfitter and Plumber of yesterday are today the Heating and Sanitary Engineers.

DRY AGENTS LIABLE TO ARREST JURIST TELLS GRAND JURY

New York, Sept. 21.—Justice Francis A. Swayze threw a bomb into the lines of Federal prohibition enforcement agents when he instructed the Hudson County Grand Jury in Jersey City that it is empowered to indict Federal agents in illegal search and seizure cases.

Under this ruling policemen have the right to arrest the Government agents on charges of having violated state laws. Police have power of prohibition enforcement under the Van Ness state law framed by a woman and the Federal agents under the Volstead law. There have been no clashes so far between the two forces, but the ruling of Justice Swayze makes paramount the state laws and holds the Federal agents to be strictly accountable under the constitution of the United States which protects the home and person against search and seizure without proper warrant.

Justice Swayze also ruled that a search warrant issued on information and belief was not a proper warrant, and gave to the searchers no rights. The Justice, who had called for an investigation for the Dempsey-Carpenter pugilistic bout, concluded his remarks as follows: "You are empowered to indict for violation of state laws Federal officers who resort to search and seizure without proper authority in enforcing the provisions of the Volstead prohibition act."

"There is danger that legislation may lead to conduct on the part of citizens overzealous to enforce the law that cannot be approved."

ARBUCKLE'S FATE RESTS ON MEDICAL TESTIMONY, SAID

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 21.—As preparations were completed today by both state and defense for the preliminary hearing tomorrow afternoon of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, on a charge of having murdered beautiful Virginia Rappe, it became increasingly evident that on medical testimony may rest the film comedian's fate.

The medical aspects of the case may occupy the entire initial session of the hearing before police Judge Sylvian Lazarus. Seven witnesses have been summoned for the first session, but it was admitted today that probably not more than three can be heard.

Indications of the emphasis to be laid on the medical evidence were to be found today in announcement from the office of District Attorney Brady that a board of medical advisers would sit at the state's counsel table throughout the preliminary hearing. At the same time it became known that Judge Lazarus has secured able medical advice and may have a prominent physician sit with him during part of the case.

From the defense has come no intimation of their plans but it is known that a determined attempt to turn down certain evidence offered by physicians at the coroner's inquest is to be made and the report was current today that several nationally known medical experts may testify at the preliminary hearing in an effort to dispose of the charge against the film star at this time.

The witnesses summoned for the initial session of the preliminary hearing scheduled to open at 1 o'clock tomorrow include Mrs. Bambine Maude Delmont, prosecuting witness; Dr. Shelby Strang, official autopsy surgeon; Dr. A. Ophuls, who performed first and unofficial autopsy; Grace Halston, nurse; Al Semmner, Ira Fortoulis and Lowell Sherman, companions of Arbuckle at the party. Because of his absence from the state, Sherman was not served with the subpoenas.

TEST CASE OF INCOME TAX LAW IS FILED

Washington, Sept. 21.—An appeal from a decision of the U. S. circuit court of appeals at Chicago to determine whether the income tax can be levied and collected by the government on the income from an estate in the hands of trustee in the same manner as levied and collected upon the income of individuals was filed in the United States supreme court today by Solicitor General Beck.

The government contends that income taxes can be levied and collected from an estate in the same manner as from an individual but the Chicago court held that an estate in the hands of trustees was not a "person" within the meaning of the income tax law of 1913.

OIL MAY BE FOUND ON GREENE COUNTY LAND IS BELIEF NOW, SAID

Is oil to be found in farm land lying south of Xenia in the Maple Corner neighborhood?

Farm owners who Tuesday night attended a meeting at the home of Harry Seifert on the Maple Corner road and signed leases covering a period of two years permitting B. T. Pritchard of this city to prospect for oil on their farms, are asking this question.

Forty farm owners attended the meeting at the Seifert home when a number of leases were signed. Mr. Seifert said Wednesday that 25 farms covering an area a mile wide and three or four miles in length, are involved. The leases signed allow the owner of the farm one eighth of the production should oil be produced, and are to be cancelled in two years if nothing should result from the venture.

Mr. Pritchard, who is a railroad brakeman, and lives on Home avenue could not be reached Wednesday.

His associates or financial support in the enterprise are not known. Attorney F. W. Dunkle his legal adviser, was not in his office Wednesday, and Mr. Pritchard's plans could not be learned.

It is understood that at various times within the last seven years Mr. Pritchard has made tests which finally determined to him that oil exists in the territory.

PONZI HAS RIVAL IN MONEY JUGGLING

Berlin, Sept. 21.—A get rich quick scheme rivaling that of Charles Ponzi, the Boston money juggler, was revealed here today in the bankruptcy proceedings of Karl Koehn, founder of a national series of betting banks. Koehn promised 100 percent dividends. His liabilities are put at 75,000,000 marks and his assets at 6,000,000 marks.

An immense mob surrounded the courts building when the proceedings opened and it required the police reserves to prevent a riot. Creditors of the German "Ponzi" were from all walks of life including clergymen, clerks, down and out financiers and laborers. There were many women among the 5,000 creditors, including ladies of broken down noble families and even nuns.

POWERS ALL ASSENT TO CONFERENCE PLAN

Washington, Sept. 21.—Not one dissenting voice has been raised by the people invited to attend the forthcoming November armament conference against the agenda which the United States has proposed be followed, it was announced officially at the state department today.

On the contrary, it was stated, the subjects proposed by the United States have met with unanimous approval on the part of the powers addressed, so far as this government has been advised.

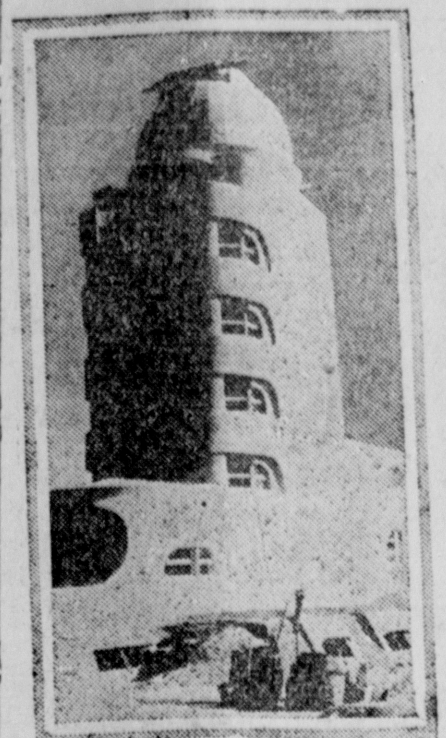

State department officials declared themselves at loss today to account for the pessimistic tone of press dispatches from London reflecting the British attitude over the prospects for the November conference.

PROPOSE ISSUING HORSESHOE ORGAN

"The Horseshoe World," is the new acquisition to the periodical list. It is the name of the proposed official organ of horseshoe pitchers and lovers of the sport, which will be given shortly if plans of C. E. Sturn, and Raymond B. Howard of Wilmington, materialize.

It is pointed out by the backers of the new journal that this section of the state leads in horseshoe pitching but has no official organ, and the new magazine is designed to fill the gap.

VENERABLE BISHOP IS GIVEN SURPRISE AT WILBERFORCE

Bishop B. F. Lee, senior Bishop of the A. M. E. Church was given a surprise by many of his old friends Monday night by calling in a body to celebrate his eightieth birthday, which took place on Sunday, the eighteenth.

The party gathered at the residence of Dean George F. Woodson and quietly marched to the front porch of the residence and made their presence known by singing, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." It took the venerable guest of honor several minutes to get himself reconciled to the greetings, and on opening the front door he was greeted by a large party of the citizens of the community who had known him for many years, not only as a student, but as the second president of Wilberforce University.

After prayer by Dr. George Henderson, Dr. T. H. Jackson, a life long friend of the Bishop, and one of his teachers in the early days of school, he delivered a very interesting address, naming many incidents which characterized the work of Bishop Lee, which not only made him as second president of the school, but for many years editor of the oldest Negro publication in the country, The Christian Recorder, published in Philadelphia, and in recognition of his work, was elected one of the Bishops of the A. M. E. church. President John A. Gregg came forward and in a few, well chosen words, presented Bishop Lee with a fountain pen as a gift from his friends.

The second event of surprise took place when Bishop Lee and Mrs. Lee were conducted to the adjoining parlor where the lights were out. As the large folding doors opened they were surprised to look upon a large cake lighted with eighty candles. Miss Hallie C. Brown then spoke and referred to the candles which represented his many years of faithful work for the upbuilding of the schools for educational work among the young people. At the conclusion of her remarks Mrs. George Woodson presented a large basket of roses. Bishop Lee responded and thanked his friends for their kind remembrances assuring them that while he had endeavored to live a Christian life, as well as an honorable citizen in the community, he only asked that while he lived, that he might be given strength to do more for the upbuilding of humanity in the various sections of the country where he was assigned to labor, not only for the A. M. E. church, but all Christian denominations.

No action protesting against increased telephone rates in Xenia under the coming merger of the Bell and Springfield-Xenia Companies will be taken unless the Ohio Bell Telephone Company should undertake to put higher rates into effect here.

Attorney Charles L. Darlington, who represents the Chamber of Commerce in the protest pending before the Public Utilities Commission against the rates now being charged here by the Bell Telephone Company, said that in his opinion the terms on which the merger of the companies was granted, will not permit the merged concern to put higher rates into effect.

The rentals now being charged here by the Bell Company were placed in effect several months ago, over the protest of the city and Chamber of Commerce, pending the hearing of the matter by the utilities commission. The company furnished bond binding itself to make a refund to patrons of the excess sums they paid in rentals should the utilities commission refuse its petition to raise the rates.

O. M. LEES CHARGED WITH CRUELTY IN DIVORCE PETITION

Cruelty and unfaithfulness for more than three years, are alleged by Mrs. Lona Stella Lees in her petition for divorce from Otto Lees, proprietor of the Interurban Restaurant, on North Detroit street, which was filed Tuesday afternoon.

She declares that many times in that period the defendant struck her, inflicting painful injuries and bruises, and that much of the time he was under the influence of liquor, and while debauched was very abusive, cursing her and threatening to strike her.

Against her protest, she declares in her petition he harbored in their home and at the Interurban Restaurant, a "common character" named Mary With, and that the conduct of the defendant and said Mary With became so "notorious and brazen" that recently both were apprehended by the police department, and taken from a room at midnight. The plaintiff declares that her repeated pleas with the defendant to abandon the woman were refused.

Repeatedly within the last two years, the plaintiff recites, the defendant has "falsely and without any justification, whatever," charged her with unfaithfulness, all of which he knew was false, and was done by the defendant to wound the feelings of the plaintiff and to cause her suffering.

The petition further recites that for more than five years, the plaintiff has virtually had control and management of the Interurban restaurant, and by reason of her close attention to it has made it a paying business, although it is averred, the defendant scarcely paid any attention to the place.

Since the conviction of the defendant and Mary With, the petition declares, the defendant has been unusually cruel, abandoned his business, and meets and associates with Mary With in places unknown to the plaintiff, and that he openly threatens to sell his property. The plaintiff sets forth that the restaurant is worth $25,000, and that she invested $500 of her own money in the purchase price. That the defendant owns a house and lot valued at $3000, and has $2000 invested in various bonds of dogs, and $400 in the Citizens National Bank.

A temporary injunction was allowed by Judge Gowdy preventing the defendant from disposing of his property and interfering with the plaintiff and preventing the Citizens' bank from paying to Lees any of the funds he has on deposit there.

Mrs. Lees asked to be given custody of the child, Gale Smith Lees, aged 5, and equitable division of the property and that the defendant be required to support the child. Marcus Shoup is attorney for Mrs. Lees.

AKRON MAN DIES FROM ACID BURNS

Akron, Sept. 21.—Coroner C. H. Kent last night rendered his verdict in the case of A. R. Derr who died in the hospital yesterday as a result of acid hurled into his face by what is generally believed to have been an intruder.

The coroner said Derr had inhaled the acid fumes and this caused death. Coroner Kent questioned Mrs. Derr and other members of the family. He was told that when Mrs. Derr was awakened by a sharp pain in her arm, she saw her husband's face seared by the acid and he was unable to speak. The son declared he was aroused by a noise and when he tried to reach the side of his parents he found the door to his room locked. Rushing to an attic window, he said he saw a man crawling out of the window.

Nurses at the hospital were also examined and said Derr made no statement, owing to his power of speech being ruined by the acid.

Derr was secretary and treasurer of the Derr Brothers Sales company.

Why People With Weak Nerves and Thin Blood So Often Fail in Life and are trampled down by strong, keen, red-blooded men with nerves of steel.

Without strong nerves you lose your magnetism, force and courage. You feel your own weakness and others know that you are weak. Trifling things annoy you—this is a sure sign of nerve exhaustion.

Some people are born with a very small amount of nerve-vital fluid, because their nerve force has been squandered by the lives lead by their ancestors. Others use up their nerve force faster than the body can make it.

When your nerve force becomes weakened, all the vital organs of your body lose their normal strength and vigor and as a result, all kinds of alarming symptoms may appear. From the pains across the back, one person thinks he has kidney trouble; another may think his spine is injured because of the tender spots which may occur thereon. The dull heavy pain in the lower part of head leads another to think he is going to have paresis and from the disagreeable fullness or pressure in the front of his head, another feels he is going to have a stroke.

Sleeplessness and nervous irritability, heart palpitation and indigestion are very common symptoms. Naturally your strength, vigor, endurance and brain power are all greatly weakened, and in such a condition you are in no position to compete with the strong, keen red-blooded men with nerves of steel.

Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron Nerve Tonic. From the remarkably beneficial results which it has produced, the manufacturers feel so certain of its efficacy that they guarantee satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

OHIO'S UTILITY COMPANIES PAY OUT $19,000,000 IN TAXES IN ONE YEAR.

Approximately nineteen million dollars! This tremendous sum is the amount of money Ohio's privately-owned public service companies, exclusive of steam railroads, paid in taxes in one year, 1920, to federal, state, county and municipal governments, according to figures on file with the state public utilities commission and compiled by the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information.

In reality, it represents the sum the people of Ohio, through indirect taxation, paid to the county, state and nation for the use of electric light and power, natural and artificial gas, the telephone, and city and interurban electric railways. This, because utility companies, of course, must pay their taxes out of their income, and they have no source of income except the money paid by the consumers in rates for services rendered.

The tax commission boasts that "no class of property in the state is assessed for taxation nearer its true value than the public utilities."

This is well illustrated by the fact that the electric light and power, natural and artificial gas, telephone and interurban and city street railway companies of the state, out of a total net revenue of $62,378,644.30, after ordinary operating expenses were paid, gave the state, county, municipal and federal governments close to $19,000,000 in taxes last year, or approximately 30% of the net revenue.

Some utility companies in the state now are paying out in taxes as much as ten cents out of every dollar taken in.

THE CALAMITY HOWLERS.

The New York World prints a cartoon showing unemployed men sitting in a park under the caption: "Back to normalcy." Back to normalcy under the existing tariff law and under the hang-over of policies initiated by a Democratic national administration out of power only six months! There was an army of the unemployed numbering three million men in this country, under the operations of the existing tariff law, within a year after the inauguration of President Wilson. There were bread lines and soup kitchens in every big industrial center during the winter of 1913-14. New York City had a half million unemployed in midsummer of 1914, just before the European war began. Now that the World war is over, and the stimulus of war "prosperity"—the only kind we have had under a Democratic administration since the inauguration of James Buchanan—we are back to the normalcy of Democratic fiscal legislation, under the burden of prosperity-paralyzing taxes made necessary by an orgy of Democratic extravagance and waste which cost the American people billions. Surely it would be becoming in Democratic editors and orators to sing low on the question of unemployment. The party in power will be judged by the people not on the basis of the number of unemployed inherited from a preceding era, but by the condition of industry in 1922 and 1924. The Democratic publicity agents engaged in advertising calamity now, will soon find their black pictures of the present being contrasted with the brighter conditions to come.

HOURS OF DESPAIR.

I sometimes think of suicide, with guns or ropes or axes, for I admit I'm sorely tried by all these modern taxes. The moisture beads upon my brow, for life seems harsh and spiteful, there are so many taxes now, and all of them are frightful. It is with dark and gloomy frown I pen my rhythmic sallies; assessors dog me over town, and chase me through the alleys. I think about the good old times, and pray for their returning, when man could brag about the dimes that happy he was earning. I used to walk the village square, before the war befell us, and flash my bundle in the air, to make my neighbors jealous. And that's a comfort no man knows in these harsh times of taxes; no voter will his wad disclose—it wanes, instead of waxes. I'm taxed by city, county, state, and by the hungry nation; and every day I send a crate of kopecks to the station. And when my busy lyre is stilled, my timbrel hushed forever, and I lie prone, by taxes killed, and done with all endeavor, the tax collectors will arrive, all through the house they'll trundle, and with the law's assistance, strive to bear away my bundle. Oh, that's the meanest tax of all, as hard-worked men consider, that will approach the bier and pall, and bring us ruin, and all the taxing powers should give a corpse a real vacation.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

As the town of Cedarville has no town clock, the Herald suggests that efforts be made to get the old one that so long did duty on the court house in Xenia. It will be quite an advantage to the town. It is proposed to place it in the tower of the opera house.

Mr. Kump expects to be right on three car lines and does not anticipate any trouble in coming to his office at almost any time of the day.

Xenia will soon be one of the stations on the American Telegraph and Telephone Company's lines. This company is engaged in building trunk lines across the country, from east to west and north to south for long distance communication. Some months ago the city council granted the company a franchise to pass through this city.

Milady To Be Her Own Judge of Skirt Lengths

"You can wear your skirts any length from seven to twelve inches from the floor and be in style," says Miss Margaret Graham of the firm of Graham and Sweeney, who with Miss Mary Osterly, recently returned from Chicago, where they attended the exhibit of the Fashion Art League of America.

"The people don't want long skirts and fashion leaders failed in their efforts to lengthen them," said Miss Graham. The type of frock, and the occasion for which it will be used, will regulate the skirt costume was exploited with blouse top of black satin.

Three piece suits exploit short box coats of heavy fabric, with skirt of same and the waist part of chiffon brocade or satin. Youthful frocks for street or dance are made with very short skirts. Brocade effects are exploited.

A feature of the three piece costume is that it also shows an uneven application of blouse to skirt portion in scallops, points or draping. Choker collars that are adjustable are used on coat dresses, some made so that they can be detached, and then the frock appears with a round neckline.

Fur fabrics are used to trim cloth suits and frocks. Flowing sleeves are developed, caught at a wristband, and there are also bishop effect sleeves, moderated bell types, and even long, tight sleeves are used. On youthful frocks the short sleeves are preserved.

Paillettes in solid effect and embroidered on tunic over tinsel cloth are prominent in evening frocks also velvet draped to figures and trimmed with long fringes of beads hanging below the skirt itself.

The low décolleté is not used in general, but the low back is prominent. Boat necks are used in both afternoon and evening frocks.

Evening frocks show the use of cerise velvet, black velvet and jet, or crystal, Nile and green tones, with salmon and shrimp shadings; turquoise and iridescent combinations.

Brocade fabrics are combined with plain weaves. Georgette and chiffon are shown combined with velvet and crepes and crisp box ruchings appear in net bouffant skirt trims. Very bouffant skirts for evening wear over tight slips of tissue cloths are favored.

Wraps made on the order of Spanish shawls with deep fringes are featured as well as sable and ermine capes, some showing slashed hem line effects.

Hats of black worn at the fashion show were trimmed chiefly in glycerined ostrich fancies. Flower trims were also shown and facings of petals. Draped black velvet hats in one piece having wing effects were shown. Hats for street wear shown in duvety, trimmed in feather fancies of contrasting color.

Among the exhibitors were: Alla Bailey, Chez Route, Blanche, Gertrude Chambers, Grone, Harry Collins New York; De May, Philadelphia; Hosac, Marguerite, Ralph Moni, Marge Studios, New York; Madame Alla Ripley, Dorothy Stephenson, Stein and Blaine, New York; Tucker, of Nashville, Tenn., and Madame Spencer, New York. The exhibitors showed about 800 models.

suitable, rather than seek the unusual. It is in this respect that the woman who can sew or who is fortunate in connecting with a good modiste, has an advantage. Often she resents the time and trouble thus required. But when the annoyance of fittings is ended and she is complimented for the individuality of her dress, she feels repaid.

It is particularly for the office woman I have selected the above model. I found it at Cara's, a Paris shop in a busy section of Paris. The under portion may be made of satin or Canton crepe. Tricotine is used for the overskirts and bands on the bodice. The entire dress is in navy, with embroidery in Egyptian colors introduced underneath the bands just above the waistline.

SUMMER ELBOWS

Summer-time is the harshest time of the year for the elbows. We wear short sleeved dresses so the elbows are exposed, which means that a great deal of dust and dirt is grimed into them and they become dry and sunburned and rather harsh and ugly in appearance. They are particularly bad, of course, at the end of the Summer, at the very time when everyone is trying on the Fall and Winter dresses. Fortunately the elbows are the easiest part of the body to improve in appearance. If yours have become rather harsh and brown you can improve them amazingly in a few

Any trouble in these passages, such as adenoids or catarrh will impair the whole general health if not properly attended to.

COULDN'T WALK UP AND DOWN STAIRS

Louisville Woman In Fine Health Declares She Is Grateful For What Tanlac Has Done.

"It was five years ago," said Mrs. Mattie Martin, of 1710 Owen St., Louisville, Ky., that Tanlac restored my health and I am still feeling strong and well.

"I was in a nervous run-down condition and for six months before I began taking Tanlac I was so weak I couldn't walk up and down the stairs. In fact I was almost a complete nervous wreck and couldn't sleep at night. I had no appetite and as fond as I am of certain kinds of vegetables I couldn't eat them, because my stomach was in such bad condition nothing agreed with me.

"But my troubles soon disappeared when I got Tanlac and six bottles made me feel like a new person. It built me up and strengthened me so I could do my work, and I am just as strong and well today as one could ask to be. I sleep well at night, eat anything I want, do all my cooking, ironing, house cleaning and take care of my four children without any trouble at all. Now when any of the family complains of feeling bad I start them on Tanlac and it soon sets them right."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill and by other good druggists everywhere.

Business and professional women whose work keeps them confined in excessively heated offices, would be apt to find a silk and cloth combination exceedingly more comfortable to wear than the usual heavy weight serge or tricotine dress. But ready-to-wear specialty shops do not cater lengths, which in no case will be either very short or very long.

Black is being used a great deal for frocks, but always with a touch of color. The wide square sleeve which is a feature of this season's fashion is lined with color if the gown is of black, and the somberness of the material is always lightened by something bright, according to the local modiste.

The Xenia women found the annual exhibition of fashions held in the gold room of the Congress Hotel, by the Fashion Art League the most elaborate that they had ever attended.

These are some of the features of the new fashions which impressed the local modistes:

Evening frocks are almost entirely in train effects, accomplished in drapery, the hem length very uneven, high on one side, ankle length on the other or short on both sides and long at front and back.

Princess lines are most prominent, either completely so, or with the basque waist and fuller skirt back. Whether in one piece or showing a basque effect, the princess line is preserved.

Fur in combination with other materials is shown for dresses. A skirt of fur is combined with a basque of crepe satin, or perhaps georgette. A Hudson seal three piece

OVER THOUSAND ARE KILLED IN TERRIFIC EXPLOSION, REPORT

Berlin, Sept. 21.—Twelve hundred persons are reported to have been killed in a terrific explosion in the Baden aniline works at Ludwigshafen today.

It was the worst explosion of the kind that ever took place in Germany. The scene of the blast and adjacent territory was described as a veritable battle field, covered with wreckage and mangled bodies.

The first report received by the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung estimated the casualties at 700, but subsequent dispatches magnified the extent of the disaster and the appalling loss of life.

(Ludwigshafen is in the Bavarian Palatinate on the Rhine and is the seat of immense dye works.)

GERMAN CABINET BE REORGANIZED WHEN REICHSTAG MEETS

Berlin, Sept. 21.—Important political developments which may bring about complete reorganization of the cabinet when the reichstag convenes were brewing in Germany today.

The socialist congress at Goerlitz took important decisions regarding the rebuilding of the cabinet and decided to enter a new ministry. If the plans now in hand work out to fulfillment, the next cabinet will be of coalition make up.

A tentative slate for the new government was made up by the socialists as follows:

Chancellor, Dr. Loebe, now president of the reichstag.

Secretary of state for foreign affairs, Dr. Gustave Stresemann, leader of the German people's party which has just formed a coalition with the socialists.

Minister of reconstruction, Walter Rathenau, (the incumbent).

Minister of interior, Herr Gradnauer.

No one was assigned to the ministry of finance but it was decided that he should be a socialist.

Most of the men selected by the socialists are said to have been approved by other political parties.

The position of Chancellor Wirth has become very difficult, owing to the domestic developments of the past six months and especially the antagonism of the capitalists to his tax program.

POPE RECOGNIZES LEAGUE OF NATIONS FORMALLY 1ST TIME

Geneva, Sept. 21.—Pope Benedict for the first time has formally recognized the league of nations. Dr. Van Karnabek of Holland, newly elected president of the league assembly today received a letter from the pontiff which said in part:

"The news we learn concerning Russia becomes graver every day. The misery is so great that only the united efforts of the peoples and their governments can assuage it. We therefore address through your excellency the representatives of all the states united, under your presidency and appeal in the strongest terms to their feelings of humanity and brotherhood in order that they may take prompt and effective measures to aid the unhappy people of Russia."

Kidney and Bladder Trouble HAVE TO GO

Clogged up kidney deposits are dissolved and the Toxins (poisons) completely driven out. "Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning of your kidneys." Don't neglect them. When your back aches, have darting pains, dizziness, headaches, bad stomach and tongue, annoying bladder troubles, cloudy urine, rheumatism, puffiness of eyes, specks, or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, Kidney Trouble in its worst form may be stealing upon you. Never mind the failures of the past, insist upon having, at once, a bottle of guaranteed Dr. Carey's Marsh-Root Prescription No. 777. (Liquid or Tablet form) from Sayre & Hemphill or any other reliable druggist, for Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away they will grow upon you slowly stealthily and with unfailing certainty. Every good druggist has been authorized to refund purchase price on two bottles to all who state they have had no benefit.

DINNER STORIES

"Mother, the teacher said I was made of dust."
"Yes, dear."

"Well, if I was born in January, when the snow was on the ground, where did God get the dust?"
"My friend, have you ever done anything to make the community the better for your living in it?"
"I have done much, sir," replied the other earnestly, "to purify the homes of my fellow men."
"Ah," said the solemn one, rubbing his hands, "do you distribute tracts, may I ask?"
"No; I clean carpets."

Coming back like this summer a tourist lost his way, and could not find any main traveled road.
He rode on for some time until he met a couple of Italians, who were camping near the side of the road.

He called out, asking for information as to the road he should take, and received this answer: "You go one mile this-a-way, and then one-half mile that-a-way. Then you come to a railroad track. He go north-south, and you go same way as the railroad track."

At a political meeting in a country town a large audience had assembled to support a parliamentary candidate.

During the speech of the candidate a man put his head in at the door and shouted in a loud voice: "Can anyone here sell me six-penny worth of sense?"

The speaker halted, evidently quite dumfounded, but the chairman of the meeting immediately silenced the intruder by remarking: "Yes, but you have nothing to put it in."

The clerk in the music store was saying to Mrs. Newly Rich: "We have a beautiful setting of Mendelssohn's 'Spring Song Without Words' for two dollars, when to his astonished ears came the question: "How much is it with the words?"

The wife of a new member of congress was distressed by the unexpected appearance of an old sweetheart of her daughter—a big, good-natured son of the west, though of a rather crude exterior.

"Alice," said the mother one day, "I don't understand how you can put up with Jim, now that you've been associating with so many fine young men in the east. I should think he would grate on you. Don't you find him a little rough?"
"Yes, ma," answered she, blushing. "And yet Jim tells me he shaves every day!"
"Hello! Is this Mr. Jigson?"
"Yes." "This is Smith. Can I borrow your auto for this afternoon?"
"Why, no. I shouldn't think you'd have the face to ask for it."
"I haven't. That's why I'm asking over the phone."

"What's your private opinion of old Skrimper?"
"He's a dough nut."
"Freely translated, that would mean—"
"Money mad."

"I see where an heiress married a waiter."
"Dear me!"
"Oh, the match isn't so bad. He already has the manners of the fashionable world. It will only be necessary for her to break him of the habit of carrying a napkin on his arm."

"What's your private opinion of old Skrimper?"

THREE EPOCHS IN WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three critical stages in a woman's life which leave their mark on her career—the first when she changes from a care-free girl to a woman, the second motherhood, and the third, is change of life. Most of the misery which comes to women through ill health dates from one or another of these periods, but women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy and has been very successful in overcoming the ailments which may come to them at these times, as it is a natural restorative for such conditions. Nearly half a century of success entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded woman.

SEEK WAR VETERANS WHO LOST MEDALS

If James G. Patton, Civil War veteran, can be located by J. G. Bishop, war record clerk in the adjutant's office, he will be presented with an honor medal which he lost at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The medal was presented by the state of Ohio to Patton for re-enlisting after his first term of service expired.

Mrs. Mary E. Nutting, New Britain, Conn., wrote the adjutant's office that her grandson found the medal at St. Petersburg with Mr. Patton's name on it.

Records show, according to the adjutant's office, that Patton enlisted from Fayette county. When inquiry was made by the war record clerk of Postmaster Rodgers, no information could be furnished. Local Civil War veterans said Friday that they had never heard of the man being sought.

Any person knowing of the whereabouts of Patton, or the place of residence of any of its relatives, are asked to communicate with Postmaster Rodgers.

J. W. Williams, Civil War veteran, is also being sought for the same purpose. He is said to have enlisted at Xenia. L. L. Shields, West Baden, has a medal which he would like to return to Williams if he can be located. —Washington C. H. Herald.

PUTTING UP THE QUINCE

Quince Preserves—Peel the quinces, cut in quarters or eighths, and core; cover with cold water and cook slowly till almost tender (if too tender it will become mushy and the pieces lose their shape.) Then weigh the cooked fruit and for each pound of it allow 3-4 of a pound of sugar. Mix this sugar with the water the quinces were boiled in, add the cooked sections, and continue to simmer till red. Turn into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

Quince Jelly—Boil quince pieces with skin on, adding a few cores, till soft (about 1 hour) in water to cover;

OSBORN INDIANS WIN SERIES WITH PILOTS

The Osborn Indians won the deciding game of their three-game baseball series with the Fairfield Pilots at Osborn Sunday, by a score of 4 to 2 in what is said to have been the most exciting contest of the series.

Haddix was again on the mound for the Indians while the Pilots placed their hopes in Eddie High and the contest was a pitcher's duel all the way with Haddix having the edge. The Osborn twirler fanned fourteen Pilots and allowed only five scattered hits. High struck out five and was touched for seven hits, poor support proving his undoing.

The Pilots scored first with two runs in the second inning that completed their scoring for the day. The Indians made their first tally in the sixth and a rally in the eighth coupled with errors gave them three runs. The attendance was estimated at 1000.

ACTION AGAINST WOMAN DISMISSED

The charge of having liquor in her possession, which was preferred against Mrs. Bertha Stevens in police court at the same time as that of keeping a place was brought against Alva Blair by Mrs. Sadie Franks, was dismissed by Judge Smith on application of Prosecutor Williamson, following Blair's trial Monday.

THE NEW GENERATION

By Jane Phelps

AGAIN MARGARET EXPLAINS THINGS TO JOAN.

Mrs. Walters was not content with telling Margaret she should dress in a more youthful fashion; she helped many shopping excursions, from which Joan was barred, both because Mrs. Walters realized after talking matters over with Margaret that it was Joan's idea her mother was too old to wear fashionable clothes, and because she had Ted as a house guest on her hands.

"Don't let her make a monkey of you, 'Mumsie,'" Joan said after her mother explained that Mrs. Walters was to help her select some new clothes.

"You admire her, the way she dresses, why do you think she might make a monkey out of me?"

"Oh, she's different! She's always worn young things. But you look so much nicer in the kind you always have worn, when you dress up the—oh, people are always hanging around you!" Margaret knew Joan had Craig Forrester in mind, perhaps also men in general, as when visiting Mrs. Walters at holiday time Joan had been jealous of the slight attentions her mother received from guests of her hostess.

Margaret Hayden smiled at Joan's remark, then her eyes grew sober, reminiscent. Had she been fair to herself? She had let Joan grow up thinking her life was ended in all save motherhood. To Joan she was Joan's mother—nothing more. Not that her daughter did not love her, she did, devotedly. But she loved the mother in Margaret, not the woman.

"You see, dear," Margaret started "when you were little you needed all my time and care. I had no time to think how I looked save only to be neat. Then too I had lost my mother and your father. I had no one belonging to me but you, and you were helpless. It is no wonder that I gave all my time and thought to you instead of clothes. I was heavy-hearted, lonely."

"But I wasn't always little and helpless," Joan interrupted.

"No, dear, but as you grew older I had become indifferent, in a rut. But I feel that now I owe something to myself, to Margaret Hayden as well as to Joan Hayden. I feel you do not need me as you did. You are a very capable girl, have your friends, your studies, your amusements, I am again becoming lonely. Often I wish to also have my friends of both sexes just as you do; to get some pleasure out of life, some of the things I have missed because of the years I shut myself away from human companionship. Mrs. Walters is older than I, yet she seems years younger because she keeps in touch with life and people. I am sure she is doing right, that I have been wrong not to have lived a different life. But it isn't too late. You won't feel old at 36. I shouldn't yet I do. You see I have let myself get old. A mother only 20 years older than a child, when married as young as I was should be a companion as well as a mother to that child. But—"

"You have always gone everywhere with me—"

"Yes, dear. But I have gone as an older person—one through with pleasure, a looker on at the happiness, the amusement of others. I don't want to live like that any longer. I want to share your amusements, your pleasures."

There flashed through Margaret's mind a picture of herself at Joan's birthday party when she was 14. A lonely young-old woman sitting on a log watching the children toasting marshmallows, longing to be with them, one of them. She saw also the rose colored sweater she wore, and which, because of Joan's remark that she was too old to wear such things, she had sheepishly taken off and warmed her fingers—and her heart—in its folds as it lay unobserved in her lap. Now she waited Joan's reply to her revolt against being considered too old to play, to enjoy, to dress.

"Perhaps, Mumsie, I haven't quite understood about the clothes. I have thought so many times since we have known Mrs. Walters. Yet—sometimes I think I have been right not to want you to make your self young. Having a daughter is different than having a son."

"Well, dear, from now on I shall try to enjoy life. I cannot accept invitations, make social engagements, unless I have appropriate clothes. We will not discuss the matter again, but I am finished with drab ugly clothes, just as I am finished—in as far as I can control it—with a lonely life while you are with your young friends."

Tomorrow—Joan Decides to Be Fair to Margaret.
